This application contains claims 10-18 drawn to inventions nonelected with traverse in the response filed January 3, 2006. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancellation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144 and MPEP § 821.01).

1. The 35 U.S.C. 102(b) rejection over Japanese Patent No. 5-105739, Koike et al. Patent No. 5,157,165 and Schreiber Patent No. 4,668,718 has been overcome by the insertion of the limitations of claim 7 into independent claim 6 and claim 9 into independent claim 8 wherein the molar ratio of tetrakisphenol per epoxy group is from 0.001:1 to 0.1:1. The minimum molar ratios of Japanese '165 (0.18:1), Koike et al. (0.5:1) and Schreiber (0.39:1, calculated from the table in cols. 7-8, Moulding composition 4) are greater than the claimed maximum.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 6 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claims contain subject matter not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventors had possession of the claimed invention at the time the application was filed.

2. The claimed exclusion of mono-substituted dicyandiamides is not supported by the specification. There is no listing of dicyanamide or any derivatives thereof on page 7, line 9 to page 10, line 9 of the specification. According to MPEP § 2173.05(i), "[t]he mere absence of a positive recitation is not basis for an exclusion. Any claim containing a negative limitation which does not have basis in the original disclosure should be rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement."

The text of section 102(b) of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 6 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Zupancic et al. Patent No. 5,534,565.

3. The mono-substituted dicyandiamide of Zupancic et al. is not merely an additive, but is designated as a curing agent encompassed by the claimed non-clathrated curing agent. Otherwise, the rejection is maintained for the reasons of record set forth in the non-Final rejection mailed February 17, 2006.

The arguments filed May 12, 2006 have been considered but are unpersuasive.

4. The claims define the molar ratio of the tetrakisphenol, not a chain extender in general. Zupancic et al. in column 23, Example 39 shows a molar ratio of tetraphenolethane to diglycidyl ether of bisphenol A of 0.07:1 regardless of the additional presence of tetrabromobisphenol A.

Art Unit: 1712

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 6 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the abstract for Japanese Patent No. 7-74260 B.

The appropriate patent number for the A version should be revealed if known. Due to the lack of related subject matter from searches for this patent number, reliance is only upon the abstract.

5. The claimed molar ratio of tetrakisphenol to epoxy group is not recited. Zupancic et al. is described hereinabove and in paragraph 7 of the non-Final rejection (page 4). It would have been obvious to employ the tetrakisphenol of Japanese '260 B within the molar ratio exemplified in Zupancic et al. in order to optimize the molecular weight increase.

Art Unit: 1712

The amendment necessitated the new grounds of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
